

MAYWOOD MAN
PLOTTER NASH
DELIVERY PLAN?

Federal Govt. Authorities Claim Progress In
K. C. Slaughter

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Federal authorities announced today they were holding Louis (Doc) Stacy as the man who plotted the attempted delivery of Frank Nash, a convict, at Kansas City—and that they had learned the identity of the gunmen who killed five persons in the attempt.

Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the United States Bureau of Investigation here, disclosed that Stacy was arrested on a federal warrant issued at Kansas City charging conspiracy to deliver Nash.

Purvis named Verne Miller, notorious South Dakota outlaw, as one of the gunmen who killed Nash and four police officers in a wild shooting fray at the union railway depot in Kansas City.

Planned In Maywood
“The attempted delivery was planned at Stacy’s home in Maywood, but Stacy himself took no part in the shooting at Kansas City,” Purvis said. “It is probable he was not even in Kansas City at the time.”

Purvis said Stacy would be removed to Kansas City as soon as possible.

Purvis said Stacy had been an associate of gangsters for years, but that he was not a member of the Touhy gang of Chicago, several members of which have been arrested for the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., St. Paul brewer.

Federal authorities said Stacy had been connected with any kidnaping, but that he was suspected of several bank robberies. They delayed questioning him about any bank robberies or other crimes pending an expected solution of the Kansas City killings.

Telephone calls from Kansas City to Stacy’s home and to a roadside house owned by him on the far north side of Chicago in the “Touhy district,” were said to have put authorities on his trail.

Chicago police said Stacy long had been an intimate friend of “Machine Gun Jack” McGurn, Capone gunman.

The attempted delivery cost the lives of two Kansas City detectives, a special agent of the Department of Justice, the police chief of McAlester, Okla., and Nash.

Mrs. Nash, widow of the slain convict, and Mrs. Herbert Farmer of Topeka, Mo., have been arrested in the case.

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker today issued a removal warrant for Stacy to Kansas City. The United States Attorney’s office said Stacy would be brought before Walker later today for a hearing on the warrant.

Denies Complicity
Stacy denied any complicity in the case. He was arrested at his roadside last night and held under a heavy guard at police headquarters.

Purvis announced he would ask for bond to be set at $50,000.

Purvis said Miller was the leader of the gunmen, and that he and others conferred at Stacy’s home and roadside about the delivery plans. He said witnesses of the shooting had recognized photographs of Miller.

The shooting took place as Nash was being returned to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth after an escape.

Federal agents said Miller and the other gunmen apparently had followed Nash and his captors to Kansas City from Hot Springs, Ark., where he was seized.

Grandon, Wis., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A village was saved from destruction because nine men flatly refused to leave their forest fire fighting posts, but dozens of fires continued to menace property today in widely scattered sections of northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan.

When a fire swept through the village of Nelma on the Wisconsin-Michigan state line in Forest county yesterday, 100 persons were forced to evacuate, but nine men remained.

Drunken Drivers Can Expect No
Leniency In Lee County Court
Judge Leech Declared This Morn

Issued Warning As He
Sentenced Buyers
To State Farm

Judge William Leech in the county court this morning emphasized the warning to drunken drivers in Lee county, asserting that this type of offenders are to be given the most stringent penalty possible in a campaign to wipe out the practice. Fred Buyers of this city, arrested Sunday night after crashing into two cars east of the city on the River Road, was before the court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition. Sheriff Fred Richardson, who placed Buyers under arrest Sunday night, filed the information yesterday afternoon.

When arraigned in court yesterday Buyers pleaded guilty but asked the leniency of the court in imposing sentence. In response to questions by the court Buyers stated that he purchased a pint bottle of alcohol Sunday afternoon on Pecora avenue from a woman whom he knew as Margaret, for which he paid 50 cents, then admitted taking the woman for a joy ride in his Ford truck, without lights.

Refused Parole
Judge Leech refused to consider a parole in Buyers’ case and continued the hearing until 9 o’clock this morning while he made further investigation. When Buyers appeared in court this morning Judge Leech sentenced him to serve 60 days at the state work farm at Vandalia and fined him $250 and costs, the amount to be worked out at the rate of $150 per day.

“Insofar as is possible, this court with the cooperation of the sheriff’s office, will make Lee county safe from drunken drivers over week ends and every other day in the week,” the court stated. “There will be no leniency shown in any case and these drunken drivers who endanger the lives of others with a weapon more dangerous than a shot gun, need expect no consideration or change from the present practice.”

Mayor Of Franklin Grove Held Up By
Two Men Last Eve

Mayor Guy Wasson of Franklin Grove was the victim of a brazen holdup last evening about 9:30 at the service station at the west limits of the village, where he was on duty by two young men who walked into the station driveway as he was preparing to close, one flourishing a revolver while the other relieved him of $15.75.

Both ran south to a point near the entrance of the Franklin cemetery where a car was in waiting and drove rapidly south. Mr. Wasson hurried into the service station as the pair left, where he obtained his revolver and fired several shots at the retreating holdups. A neighbor residing near the station observed the license plate on the rear of the car and reported to Sheriff Richardson and Deputy Ward Miller who were called to the village, the first four numbers.

The plate, according to the description by the Illinois license the first four numbers being 2523.

Railroad Laborer
Has Asst. Foreman
Arrested This A. M.

Tony Karras, employed on an extra gang working on the Northwestern main line near McRoberts crossing, west of Dixon stumbled into the police station this morning bearing numerous bruises and with his clothing partly torn from his body and told Chief Van Bibber that a fellow employee had given him a severe beating about 8 o’clock this morning. Karras stated that the man was at work. When it was learned that the fight took place two miles west of the city Chief Van Bibber called Deputy Sheriff Ward Miller to the station and Karras was taken to the scene of the alleged assault where Alle Bey, an assistant foreman was placed under arrest.

Taken before Justice W. T. Terrill, a charge of assault and battery was preferred by Karras and Bey furnished a $25 cash bond for his appearance Thursday morning. Karras stood by the foreman of the extra gang and other workmen stood by and watched the fight, making no effort to stop the assault. State’s Attorney Edward Jones was present at the hearing and a continuance was taken to secure the presence of the extra gang foreman and Roadmaster P. J. McAndrews of Sterling at the trial Thursday.

Completes 10,000-Mile Journey With Dog, Cat Companions—

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Completing a 10,000 mile voyage, his only companions a dog and a cat, Capt. Alf Hansen and his 35-foot sail boat were docked today in the Chicago river.

Capt. Hansen, 29-year-old officer of the Norwegian merchant marine, sailed from Oslo, Norway slightly more than a year ago, his destination the Century of Progress Exposition. His route was by way of Spain, the Canary Islands, Florida and up the Mississippi river.

Sheds rubbish and shrubbery went up in flames, but the larger buildings, drenched with water, were saved.

Henry Gibbs, Jacob, Paul and Strauter Spencer, and Henry Puschner, with two civilian conservation corps recruits disregarded orders to leave. They hauled a pump to the Buile river and for two hours played streams of water on houses and business structures as the flames swept up to the edge of the village, then with a roar sped over lawns and across balsam thickets to the other side.

PARIS AWAITING RETURN OF HER
HEROES OF SKY

Non-Stop Record Holders To Get Royal
Welcome Home

Paris, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Fifty million Frenchmen bubbling with enthusiasm over the thrilling non-stop flight of two countrymen from New York to Rayak, Syria, prepared today to crown Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos with fitting glory.

The pair are expected to rest a few days in Syria, where they arrived in the monoplane, the Joseph Le Brix, last evening with the claim of having surpassed the world distance record by about 560 miles. But when they do return there will be a grand welcome.

News of the successful completion of the flight came as a relief to the entire country which felt French aviation was being outdistanced by recent adventures of Wiley Post, American “round-world” aviator; Capt. James Mollison and his wife, Amy, British trans-Atlantic fliers; and General Italo Balbo’s squadron of Italian seaplanes.

Paris was waiting impatiently today for the aviators to awake from the exhausted sleep they fell into immediately after they had bathed and sent telegrams to their wives, their first acts upon arriving at the Rayak military airfield, 79 miles from Damascus, at 11:10 A. M., CST, 56 hours after leaving New York.

Officials in the Air Ministry were up all night, hoping for details of the flight, the route followed, and the exact mileage.

Officials began checking figures given them which showed Rossi and Codos covered about 5,900 miles or about 560 miles farther than the previous distance record of two British officers, O. R. Gifford and G. E. Nicholls, set last February.

FLIERS ARE THANKFUL
Rayak, Syria, Aug. 8.—(AP)—When the French distance fliers Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos awoke today, refreshed after a long sleep, they expressed thanks to their own government first and next to Americans for the warm sympathy and aid given them before the start of their epochal New York-to-Rayak flight.

“We are immensely happy,” the aviators said as officers and men of the little French military airfield crowded about them, renewing the congratulations given last night to the tired men who in about 56 hours flew one-fourth of the way around the globe.

Their plane, the Joseph Le Brix, came down to a beautiful landing yesterday, an hour after they had informed the Military Commandant by wireless that they were coming. The whole post was out to greet them.

When the monoplane stopped rolling, Rossi and Codos, stiff and tired, clambered out of the great ship and greeted their own countrymen with great joy.

Had Three Desires
They said they wanted three things—to report their success to the Air Ministry to send their wives, and to sleep.

But before sleeping they wanted a bath, and they got it. Then they stretched out on army beds in the desert barracks just as the sun was going down.

The blistering heat subsided and the aviators were comfortable in the sheltered room. They complained that even over the Atlantic the cabin of their plane became hot.

Rubbish In Streets
The commissioner also called to the attention of the council, the practice of some citizens in taking their lawns and placing the rubbish in the streets. Rains wash the rubbish, paper, leaves and dead grass over the storm drains, blocking the catch basins, the commissioner said, and then told the council that unless the practice is stopped at once arrests would follow for the violation of the city ordinances.

The local improvement ordinance providing for the resurfacing of Fifth street, was presented to the council for passage. Commissioner Campbell after making some inquiry as to the type of material planned, voting in the negative while the remainder of the council voted in the affirmative and the measure passed.

The council listened to the reading of the regular monthly list of bills which were voted to be paid and several bonds were approved by the council for owners of signs which are over sidewalks throughout the city.

Then followed a long discussion in which Eugene Vest and a Mr. Schultz, the latter a college student, attacked the city’s recently enacted bill peddling ordinance. The former in a fiery attack called the ordinance an obnoxious and vicious measure which discriminated against the Dixon business and local merchants and urged the immediate repeal of the measure.

Deputy Sheriff Ward Miller was called to the Thomas Downs farm south of Harmon yesterday afternoon to investigate the reported theft of a large number of chickens. Mr. Downs estimated that about 400 chickens had been stolen from his flock recently. The losses have covered several visits by the thieves apparently.

GROCERS RALLIED
The Dixon Grocers sold ball team scored a win over the Standards and Dairy last evening at the Singer field by a score of 8 to 7. The dairymen scored five runs in the first inning to take the lead, but the grocers came back in the third and sent four runners across the plate, adding two more in the fourth and one each in the fifth and sixth which was sufficient to win.

IN POLICE COURT
Raty Spotts was assessed a fine of $10 and costs on an assault and battery charge late yesterday afternoon when arraigned before Justice Terrill, and in default of the amount was sent to the county jail. He was arrested by Chief Van Bibber and Patrolman Glesner following a hurry call received about 3:30 when the officers rushed to the alley in the rear of the Spotts residence and found a crowd gathered about Ray who was administering a terrible beating to his brother Paul. The latter bore signs of a

New York, Cincinnati Officers Baffled By
Two Murders

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The family of Henry F. Sanborn, slain railroad executive, believes an attempt to ensnare him in some “gold brick scheme” preceded his murder.

Sanborn, member of a leading St. Paul family, disappeared from his New York office July 17, never to reappear until his bullet-torn body was found buried head down in a hastily dug grave in Queens.

“On the day he disappeared,” said Mrs. Grant Van Sant, socially prominent sister of the victim, “he was in a great hurry to get somewhere, and he told people at his office that a man was waiting to take him to Long Island and that he would see them next day.”

“We think it was a business deal that he went to close the deal, and discovered it was a gold brick scheme.”

Magnhilde Almskar, 27-year-old fiancée of Sanborn, was reported near collapse today. Volunteering all the information in her possession about the dead man, she spent hours in the District Attorney’s office yesterday and then went to the morgue to clinch the identification of the body.

Authorities said she could give them no clue.

“We are no nearer a solution,” a Police Inspector said. “We have not been able to establish a motive and we suspect no one at this time.”

TRIANGLE SUSPECTED
Cincinnati, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Suspecting a love triangle, police today sought a man and woman for questioning in the slaying of Oliver S. Baily, 27, society leader whose battered body was found in a “lovers lane” on the outskirts of the city.

They also hunted the automobile in which the son-in-law of the president of the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards was last seen Saturday night. His body, the skull crushed with a brick, was found Sunday morning but lay unidentified for 24 hours.

A crude map was found near the body. On it a dot indicated the spot where the body lay. Police speculated whether the map was used to guide the slayer to the scene. They said they had evidence a woman was there, and possibly a man.

Baily’s wife and son are on their way here from Lake Placid, N. Y., where they were vacationing.

New Procedure In Lee County Court

A new legal procedure was followed in a transaction in the County Court yesterday afternoon which introduced a new law into Illinois courts of records. In cases where an information has been filed, which frequently occurs in the Lee county court, the action is delayed only one hour. State and nation wide agitation to speed up the action of courts is met with this new law in Illinois which was practiced for the first time in Dixon yesterday.

The defendant must appear in open court where he is furnished with a copy of the information containing the charges. One hour must then elapse before any further action can be taken, and after the delay of 60 minutes the defendant is again brought into court, his constitutional rights explained as in the past and the court awaits his reaction to the charges.

Italian Planes Take Up

Ocean Flight

Harbor Grace, N. F., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Polish-American brothers, Benjamin and Joseph Adamowicz, on a test flight from New York in preparation for a flight to Poland, crashed here this afternoon. The fliers escaped serious injury.

The big monoplane, the “White Eagle,” came down and ran from the landing field into scrub growth and cracked up. Accompanying the Adamowicz Brothers was another pilot, Emil Birgen.

Horta, Azores, Aug. 8.—(AP)—General Italo Balbo’s Italian air armada of 24 seaplanes successfully completed today the longest hop of the journey from Rome to Chicago and back again.

The general led his ships from Shoal Harbor, Newfoundland, to the Azores, where he and his men received an unparalleled welcome.

At Horta, where nine of the squadron alighted, thousands of persons were out to see the sight. They greeted the Italians with rockets and sirens. The breakwater and the quay were massed with blue hydrangas.

The other 15 ships of the armada were provided with landing places at Ponta Delgada on San Miguel island.

Brothers Hopped Off Unannounced—

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Two Polish-Americans brothers, Benjamin and Joseph Adamowicz, who hope to fly from New York to their ancestral country, took off from Floyd Bennett Airport early today on what they said was merely a “test flight” to Harbor Grace, N. F.

Airport attendants believed, however, that there was a strong possibility they might continue on across the ocean, with or without a stop at Harbor Grace.

Taking off unexpectedly at 4:06 A. M., CST, without making any announcement of their intention until just before the hop-off, they took more than 500 gallons of gasoline with them, attendants said.

Previously they had announced they would not make the trans-Atlantic hop until the third week in August.

Their monoplane “White Eagle,” powered with a 300-horsepower motor, was formerly “The Liberty,” in which Otto Hilig and Holger Holmrich flew to Denmark two years ago.

Emil Birgen, another pilot, accompanied the two brothers, it was said.

Justice Riding Crest Of Wave
In Chicago Today; 42 Hoodlums
And Racketeers To Jail In Week

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Justice was riding the crest of a high wave in Chicago today as tabulation of the drive against crime showed that 42 defendants had been swept by its force into prisons during the first week. Of this number 13 were sentenced to the penitentiary for terms ranging up to one year to life and three were sent to the House of Correction yesterday.

The August grand jury was in session today with instructions from Chief Justice John Prystalski to give special attention to charges that witnesses for defendants were perjuring themselves to win acquittals.

“If perjured testimony is being used to gain the acquittal of any person charged with crime,” said Judge Prystalski, “indictments should be returned against those responsible for giving the testimony and persons who suggest or encourage the use of such testimony.”

As the courts clicked yesterday in disposing of cases defendants who sought delays at demanding jury trials were thwarted because a special venire of 100 jurors had been summoned for duty and were put right to work.

St. Charles Boxer To Be Seen On Outdoor Card Thursday Eve

Walter Matthys of St. Charles, runner up in last week's Golden Gloves tournament against the Irish team, will be seen in action at the Crawford Maples arena Thursday evening in one of the double windup features. Matthys will meet Tommy Eppinger of Peoria in the 118 pound class. He will be accompanied to Dixon by Pete Polts, Billy Howard and Sylvester Crawford of the Charles Coustis gymnasium of St. Charles.

Howard is matched to meet Ray Wilson of this city in one of the feature bouts in the heavyweight division. Howard is now fighting for the World's Fair championship at Soldier Field in Chicago. In his match Saturday night he won by the knock out route in the second round against a strong opponent. Howard and Wilson should make an excellent match as both have had about the same amount of experience. Howard has appeared in six bouts and is a student at the DeKalb Normal college.

CRAWFORD WILL TRY COME BACK IN GRAIN TRADE

Doctor, Who Lost Fortune, Meets Creditors Today

New York, Aug. 8—(AP)—Dr. E. A. Crawford, who turned grain operator, cornered rye and then saw his millions vanish with the crash in grain and security prices on the Chicago Board of Trade three weeks ago, moved for a comeback today.

The diminutive former medical practitioner called for a meeting this afternoon of all his creditors to present a plan by which he hopes to settle $2,000,000 in claims and avert personal bankruptcy proceedings.

Hiram C. Todd, his attorney, said the plan takes into consideration the provisions of the recently amended bankruptcy act which permits the debtor to arrange fifty per cent of claims with creditors. Fifty per cent of the creditors must agree to the plan, Todd said.

Crawford staked his entire fortune on the grain exchange and shortly before the crash which contributed to the closing of the Board of Trade and the fixing of grain prices by the federal government his holdings were said to be worth $50,000,000 with paper profits of around $25,000,000.

Prices pyramided, but on July 19 the market toppled and rye, in which Crawford had invested most heavily, hit the bottom. The operator was caught in the meal storm and his fortune vanished. The Board of Exchange suspended him for "inability to meet obligations."

DOG RACE MEET

Promoters Thought Sheriff Was Fooling As He Warned

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 8—(AP)—Charges of gambling were on file today against thirty-two employees of the Midwest Kennel club which opened a dog race meeting last night at the Cahokia track near here in the face of a warning by Sheriff Jerome Munnie.

Those arrested by the sheriff were principally ticket sellers and cashiers. After being taken to Belleville, county seat, each was released on bond signed by Joseph Brzostowski, owner of the grounds on which the track is located.

The Illinois legislature, at its last session, passed a bill which legalized dog racing, but this measure was vetoed by Gov. Hornor.

The sheriff, in addition to making the arrests, confiscated the mechanical rabbit, which lures the dogs around the track, at the end of the eighth race. Ten races were scheduled.

Following last night's program, H. V. Gustin, attorney for the club announced that the track would be closed indefinitely.

City Judge William F. Borders issued an injunction several days ago against interference with operation of the track by law enforcing officers, but Munnie contended the track, which is outside the city limits, is outside Judge Borders' jurisdiction.

Gustin said he would ask Judge Borders to issue a contempt citation against the sheriff for violation of the injunction.

COUNCIL HIRES
ENGINEER FOR SEWERS SURVEY

Both speakers represented the publication of a hand bill containing local advertising which they desired to distribute to each home in Dixon and suburbs daily.

Council Divided

The council was divided in its opinion of the bill-peddling ordinance and its effectiveness, and it was stated that since it became effective on May 15 eleven permits have been taken out at the City Clerk's office. Commissioner Tyler, who became a member of the council after the passage of the ordinance, invited discussion by the commission. Commissioner Campbell, sponsor of the ordinance defended the measure and urged the council members to cooperate in its enforcement, emphasizing the fact that discrimination in this case would result in a return of the old hand bill menace to the city. A long discussion ensued and Commissioner A. C. Moeller favored the repeal of the ordinance and permitting the distribution of advertising matter in the city, when City Attorney Gannon retired to prepare an amendment to the present ordinance.

Amend Ordinance

The amendment was made to form a part of the first section of the ordinance and read as follows: "Providing the publisher of any regularly published newspaper and printed in said City of Dixon may cause the same to be distributed at residence and business places."

Commissioners Campbell and Tyler voted against the enactment of the amendment but Commissioner Loftus and Moeller cast their votes in conformity along with the Mayor and the amendment was adopted.

With the announcement of the adoption of the amendment, Commissioner Campbell told the council that they had taken an action which made it obligatory upon the city to decide the merit of periodicals now distributed about the city instead of the distributor and agreed to abide by the decision of the merchants of the city in the event that the sponsors of the plan would circulate a petition. Commissioner Moeller presented the motion favoring the adoption of the amendment and the changing of the ordinance.

Henry Kurtzrock appeared before the council and voiced an objection to the condition of the storm drain which passes through Haymarket square and urged the street department to take some action in clearing obstructions existing in the ditch.

IT RAINED TODAY

THE rain was dripping all about. And yet my thought, dry-shoot, ran out. Among the birches, slender-set. Along the pelted rivulet. It saw the blood-root blossom pale. The red-cupped moss and snuggled snail. The mushroom thrusting through the mold. The early cowslip's budded gold. A while it tarried there to bless Those living creatures' loveliness; Then under dripping bush and tree, My thought, dry-shoot, returned to me.

Stauffer and wife, who settled near Polo, Ogle County, Ill., in 1855, having travelled by wagon from Elkhart County, Indiana. They reared a family of eleven children—five sons and six daughters of whom four are still living—W. C. of Dixon; A. H. and Mrs. M. C. Miller of Polo, and Mrs. Anna Johnson of Gooding, Idaho. The weather was ideal for such a happy occasion and at the noon hour about sixty enjoyed the splendid catered dinner served in the pavilion. Immediately following the dinner the annual business session was held with the election of officers for the following year: President, C. W. Stauffer of Polo; Vice President, B. P. Stauffer of Polo; Secretary-Treasurer, Lucile Stauffer of Dixon; Mrs. J. B. Brenner and Mayne Schiefelbine of Dixon; Mrs. John Trego and Mary and Pauline Trego of Rochelle were present as visitors; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Solenberg of Springfield, Ill., were present.

Each year seems to bring to all who are privileged to attend these reunions more joy, happiness. In addition to a fine afternoon visiting together all enjoyed the band concert rendered by Russell Mason and his Junior Band in the pavilion during the afternoon. It was decided to hold the Stauffer reunion at Lowell Park each year.

99th Birthday for Mrs. Seeley Monday

Just lacking one year of having lived through a century of progress, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Seeley of Erie passed her 99th birthday anniversary Monday. The event was quietly observed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Eddy in Erie, where she resides. Relatives and a few of her most intimate friends called to bring gifts and wish her a happy birthday, but the most of her many friends culled their desire to call fearing that the ordeal of receiving so many visitors would be too great an effort for her in her frail condition, and sent their best wishes with cards and flowers.

Mrs. Seeley was born in Cleveland, Ohio, August 7, 1834, and when two years of age she left that city with her parents, Robert and Lydia Graham Thompson, and her sister Mary and her brothers, Richard and William, for the west. The trip to Chicago was made on the Great Lakes and before reaching port her brother Robert was born. The family remained in Chicago a few months when with a number of other families they continued their trip west, making the journey in covered wagons drawn by oxen. After a tiresome trip of several weeks, during which they were often mired in swamps, they located on the south bank of Rock river in what is now Portland township, Whiteside county.

Mr. Thompson purchased a large farm from the government, paying for it in gold at the Dixon land office.

Lived In A Log House
Here a log house was erected about a quarter of a mile from the river. The home was noted for its hospitality. Settlers enroute to the Dixon land office from even as far as Mercer county would often stop overnight and were always welcomed, even though they were strangers. Mrs. Seeley's brothers, John and Hiram, and a sister Priscilla were born here, the latter only living two years. The family bravely endured the hardships peculiar to a new and sparsely settled country.

HIGHER FARM PRICES AID RECOVERY.

One of the most favorable developments in President Roosevelt's recovery program is the increase in the value of farm products, which adds many hundreds of millions of dollars to the country's purchasing. It is true that grain crops were small, but farmers held over unusually large amounts which they are selling at the advanced prices.
This is true also with regard to cotton.

The average of farm prices on July 15 was 76 per cent of the average between 1909 and 1914, compared with 57 per cent a year ago. A bushel of wheat is now worth twice what it was a year ago, even after the recent market collapse, and cotton has doubled in value. Ten bushels of corn now sell for as much as 17 did last year.

Added to this price increase are the benefits which the farmers will receive from payments for restricting wheat and cotton crops. Money is now being paid to cotton farmers for destroying part of their growing acreage. The reduction in wheat acreage applies to next year, but producers will be paid the greater part of their money this year for agreeing to restrict planting. A total of more than $200,000,000 will be distributed, and this will be added to purchasing power this season.

It is too early to predict the outcome of the efforts to curb production, or of other measures taken by the government to increase farm prices. The cotton farmers accepted the government's proposals willingly, and there is every evidence that the wheat farmers will do likewise.
There are many difficulties to be met before success is assured, among them the problem of exporting products maintained at artificially high prices. Also, the effect of the processing taxes is yet to be revealed.

A major problem is to maintain farm prices at a fair level and at the same time keep them from going so high that an unbearable hardship will be imposed on consumers. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has warned that runaway markets will not be tolerated. He has ample authority to keep prices from going too high, but the adjustment is a delicate one.

Meantime, industry will at once benefit from the greater purchasing power of the farm population. There is an immediate relation between factory output and farm income, and the impoverishment of farmers in recent years had seriously impaired the great home market and destroyed the prosperity of cities.

SCHOOL CHILDREN AND WAR.

It is not surprising that the school children who were examined in a survey by two professors of Columbia University, should have revealed a tendency to glorify everything connected with war. Martial things—roll of drums, blare of trumpets, men in uniform, and all the fanfare and trumpetry of war—have a well known irresistible appeal to young minds, and to many old ones.

School children in the very nature of things can have little appreciation of the horrors and cruelty of war; they see only its glories. Their text book heroes are great soldiers, and they learn that the destinies of their country have revolved about war. Was not America born in blood?
Was not Lincoln a hero to be emulated, even though he led a nation in war?

Nor is there any wonder that children have little grasp of the machinery of peace. Even adults might be found woefully lacking in knowledge of the Kellogg pact, the World Court, the League of Nations, and the intricacies surrounding these agencies.

But while the professors' survey reveals little that is surprising, it does call attention to the need for bringing forcibly home to future citizens the fact that war is a national catastrophe, that as such it is to be avoided if that is possible; and that good has seldom come from any war. Probably the greatest need is to destroy the belief that war is inevitable, unquestioning acceptance of which is perhaps the chief reason that peace measures have been so ineffectual.

World armaments are far larger now than they were in 1914, and the world now as then is filled with international jealousies and suspicions, and rumors of war. Progress toward universal peace has been disappointingly slow and has had many setbacks. Peace machinery is imperfect and not very effective.

These facts, however, only make it more desirable to put forth every effort to avoid a new war, which would be infinitely more terrible than the last, and which many world leaders believe would bring the destruction of civilization.

It is not necessary to breed a nation of milksop pacifists.
An understanding of what war really is, how wars are made, and what is being done to minimize the chances for war, can be combined with a healthy patriotism.

It is very difficult to determine what is the limit or where the beautiful ends and the vulgar begins.—Rufus
C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress Exposition.

I cannot see any vision, any imagination and enterprise in our policies. We have not even any brain trust.—David Lloyd George, M. P.

It isn't a matter of how many words you speak, but how well you speak them.—Marie Dressler, actress.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Scouty swam up to the top of the hill and saw the bag of money drop into the little rowboat. Then he smiled from ear to ear.
He'd made somebody happy and that always made him feel just grand. Said he, "I'll bet that fisherman is glad that he came here."
"With all the gold that's at his feet, he'll buy more fish than he can eat. He will not have to hold a pole, while sitting in the sun."
"If he's as careful as can be, he will live from now on, happily, rehas enough, now, to retire. A good deed we have done."

Then, down into the sea he went and about a half an hour was spent in telling all the other Tin-ies just what he had seen.

"The man will fish no more," he said. "No doubt, he'll buy his fish instead. We have cured him of a habit that to all the fish is mean." Soon Shrimpy cried, "I have a hunch that I am sure will please this bunch. I'm going to pay you back for filling someone full of chick."

"There is a place where everyone can have just packs and packs of fun. It is the playground of the sea, and it's not far from here."

"Hurray!" cried Goldy. "That sounds great. Where is it? I can hardly wait. Gee, do we have to swim, or is there some way we can ride?"

"I'm just a wee bit tired, right now, but I could reach the spot somehow." "Ah, that gives me another thought," kind Shrimpy loudly cried.

"I'll crack two rocks together and a great big whale will understand that I want it to come right here. Just wait and you will see!"

He cracked the rocks with all his might, which shortly brought the whale in sight. "Now comes a ride," said Shrimpy. "There is room enough for three."

Some time last winter, or there-a very high-brow magazine a long really funny.

It all proved, as nearly as I can remember, that you don't laugh at Mr. Wodehouse's stories unless there is something essenmake-up.

Well, anyhow, Mr. Wodehouse has written a new book, "Heavy practically everybody except the above mentioned critic is going to find it very funny indeed. It seems to me to be one of his very best,

which means that as a laugh-pro-

It's hard to outline the story, because Mr. Wodehouse has out-cooting complications and plots-within-plots. But there's an an-

laugh at Mr. Wodehouse's stories

Well, anyhow, Mr. Wodehouse

above mentioned critic is going to find it very funny indeed. It seems to me to be one of his very best,
which means that as a laugh-provoker it is practically perfect.

It's hard to outline the story,

cooting complications and plots-
within-plots. But there's an an-

the child may, with time, lose its appetite and refuse to eat.
It is usually considered that for a child more than 18 months of age five hours is the best interval between meals.
If the child refuses food at meal time, its diet should be scrutinized.
Care should be taken to avoid excessive amounts of sweets and starchy foods. The portions served at meals should be reduced, and, of course, the child should not be forced to eat when he apparently has no appetite.
Occasionally underweight children are urged to take a glass of milk between meals. Since milk is one of the foods which pass from the stomach most slowly, such supplemental feedings may seriously interfere with the child's appetite.
The milk should then be eliminated and in its stead might be substituted a protein-containing supplemental meal, as proteins, especially meats, are supposed to stimulate appetite.

Propose Minimum
Price Of $20 Per Ton On Peach Crop
Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A minimum price of $20 a ton for Number 1 California cling peaches was proposed today in a marketing agreement offered the industry by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.
The agreement would limit the cling peach pack to 10,000,000 cases or 218,000 tons. It provides for purchase of any surplus of number one peaches at a price equivalent to the $20 a ton figure.
Officials said acceptance of the agreement by the cling peach industry would insure a return of at least $4,350,000 this year. California peach growers. Last year the cling peach growers received an average of only $6.50 per ton.
Farm officials said the increase in price to consumers as a result of the proposed high price would be only two cents a can.

Warden Of So. Ill. Prison In Crash

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Six persons were injured when an automobile driven by Joseph Regan of Carlyle, Warden of the Southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard, collided with a car driven by Henry Schickstanz of Marissa, three miles north of Marissa on highway No.
136 last night.
Regan, his wife and two children received minor lacerations and bruises. They were taken to the hospital at Breese for emergency treatment. Schickstanz and his wife were brought to a Belleville hospital for treatment. Mrs.
Schickstanz, the most severely injured, suffered a fractured leg when she was thrown out of the car.
Schickstanz's car caught fire and was destroyed while Regan's car was badly damaged. Regan was driving from Menard to Carlyle when he turned into a lane leading to his home.

Amateur Detective Captured Her Man

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—When
Mrs. Hattie Seymour of Golconda, Ill., discovered that a pickpocket had made away with the wallet containing $16 her father, Milo Austin, 68, carried, she decided to be her own detective.
The robbery occurred last Friday as Austin and Mrs. Seymour and her husband, John, alighted from a Michigan Avenue bus. Today a man identified by police as William English, 60, and by Mrs. Seymour as the thief, was in jail.

Her method in getting her man was simple. She just rode buses along the same line until she saw a man she told police had been among those in the crowd when her father's wallet was removed from his pocket. Police said English had a record as a pickpocket and confidence man.

Deputy Kills Man Who Shot His Teeth From His Mouth

West Frankfort, Ill., Aug. 7.—(AP)—
After shooting Deputy Sheriff Stanley Mundell's teeth out of his mouth, Gus Callas, 45, was shot and killed last night by the officer on Main Street here.

Mundell said Callas called him a "scab" and shot at him twice, one of the bullets breaking Mundell's jawbone and knocking his artificial teeth to the pavement and the other shot grazing his scalp.

Mundell returned the fire and Callas, mortally wounded, staggered into a restaurant where he died.

YANKEES GET TOUGHER WHEN GOING'S ROUGH

Senators Learn Ruth & Company Are Still Mighty Foes

By EDWARD J. NEIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

Every time the Yankees skid, swoon and knock off a wheel or two in a tangle with some routine opponent, chuckles sweep the baseball lands and the boys nod wisely at the indisputable signs of an aged, hard-to-inspire machine about to fly apart all at once like the faded one-horse shay.

Everyone chuckles at the baseball men who have to tackle the Yankees next. It has long been their adage, and it stood forth truer than ever today, that when the checks are down and the issue is man to man with the title at stake, Babe Ruth and his "doddering brethren" are the grimmest, toughest foes in all baseball.

Perfect as to detail in every point, this very scene was pictured in the Yankee Stadium yesterday, with 45,000 roosting in the great-horseshoe stands, the high riding Senators, three games in the lead, opening a four game series with a double header. The Athletics had left town only Saturday with three straight victories and the Red Sox might have made it four Sunday but for a jittery infield defense. The checks were down, the pressure was on.

Cut Senators' Lead
—So the Yankees climbed right up out of the resin like a hurt Dempsey. Babe Ruth belted one, Lou Gehrig hit another. The pitchers pitched as they're capable of pitching. Red Ruffing, Herp Pennock, Russell Van Atta, old Wiley Moore; the hitters hit; the defense was tight; the Yanks swept both games, 6 to 5 and 5 to 4; and the Senators' lead was shaved to a single game.

With two more games left in this series, one today and another tomorrow it is possible for the Yanks to swing into the final third of the season this week with a one game lead. If they don't, and the odds are all against even so opportune a club as the world champions, there's still a chance for one of the most dramatic of modern finales in the closing days of the season.

Have 52 Games To Go
Both the Yanks and the Senators have played 102 of the 154 games on the schedule with 52 to go apiece. After two more here they travel their separate ways until Aug. 13, when they meet again in a single game in Washington. Then they are apart again until Sept. 28, 29 and 30, when they collide on the Stadium turf in a final three game series. The season ends Oct. 1.

So it is possible that the two-team feud may carry on into the shadows of the approaching world series, with the pressure on, the checks down again, and the championship hanging on every play. Ruth and the old men shiver with glee at the prospect.

Won Each In Ninth
The Yanks had to rally in the ninth inning of both games to win. With two out, old Earl Combs and Sam Byrd, running for Ruth, on second and third, Ben Chapman nicked Jack Russell, finishing for Alvin Crowder, for the hit that scored two and won the first game 6 to 5. Then in the second game, with the count tied at 4-all, two out in the ninth again, and Crosetti waiting patiently, old Joey Sewell belted him home with the counter that won 5 to 4. Ruth and Gehrig hit their homers, 26th and 20th respectively in the second. Gehrig now has played in 1300 consecutive games, with seven of Everett Sneed's record.

The Browns won their first series for Manager Rogers Hornsby as Lena Stiles shut out the White Sox 6 to 0 for a 3-1 edge. A five run assault in the fourth gave the Tigers enough runs to beat Cleveland 6 to 3 despite six errors. The dome folks gave Bucky Walters, Red Sox third baseman, a chest of silver and a loving cup at Philadelphia, and he in turn gave the Athletics a headache by driving in five runs with a homer and triple as Boston won 8 to 5.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—The practice of giving trick names to those groups with whom the President associates himself in one capacity or the other continues popular in the Capital.

Back in the days when President Hoover was in the habit of arising early and with several of the ranking members of his administration, tossed a medicine ball around on the White House lawn the "medicine ball cabinet" became one of the most widely known groups in the country.

And later, in his campaign for re-election three of his most trusted advisers—Walter Brown, Postmaster General; Pat Hurley, Secretary of War, and Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury—were invariably dubbed the President's "Three Musketeers."

And so it is with President Roosevelt. He had been in the White House only a short time before his various groups of advisers had been given queer-sounding sobriquets.

ALBANY KNEW IT—The "brain trust" is perhaps the most familiar. Strictly speaking, however, the "brain trust" was named before Roosevelt became President. In Albany, prior to his inauguration, reports drifted down to Washington concerning this group.

There's another group of presidential advisers, however, which has come into being since March 4 and whose name was conceived and bestowed in the Capital. It is the so-called "Bedside cabinet."

The "Bedside cabinet" is just what its name implies. The President, upon awaking in the morning, frequently summons to his bedside some of his most trusted lieutenants for a conference on the most pressing problems confronting the administration at the moment.

EARLY BIRDS—The "Bedside cabinet" is composed of three men. Professor Moley, generally regarded as the foremost "brainbuster" in the administration, is usually present. Young Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, is the second, and Louis McHenry Howe, the chief presidential secretary, is the other.

There is little that concerns the administration or the country that these three men do not share.

Everyday Religion

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

Sir Arthur Eddington said the other day that the universe is a bubble due to burst in so many million years. Human history, he added, will end as "a scurry of midges in the dark." How he knows so much he did not say. Perhaps he was just talking through his hat.

No matter; we shall go on measuring life by our home fire-light, and not by the glow of cosmic fire-mist. "So near is grandeur to our dust," as Emerson said, that our deepest questions, are answered as we sit together by the hearth, if we have the wit to read the answer. Also, a human midge, age eight, can teach us more of what life is and why it is than any star, near or far, can tell us.

Why are we here? a reader asks me. The answer, plain, is to know truth, to love beauty, and to do good. There is no other reason, so far as anyone can see, why we should be here. Or why we should not let go and live as the animals do. These three reasons, at bottom, may be one reality, as we say that God is three in one. Art calls it beauty, science calls it truth, religion calls it goodness.

Anyway, it is reason enough for living, and it will lead us where we ought to go if we follow and obey it. Do we ask if there is love in the nature of things? Assuredly; it is here, however it got here, and it lights up life like a sunrise. Do we ask the meaning and purpose of life? To hear the laugh of a child is to know that all history was not in vain, if only to make a home fit for a child to live in.

It is fatal to forget this fireside wisdom and faith, so much surer and truer than what any star can report. We look for love among the stars, we search for truth among the atoms; but let us be wise enough to trust what our hearts tell us.

To come, at the end of the day, to a house by the side of the road, and find love, loyalty and beauty in human hearts is to learn all that we know or need to know, at what we are here. The most beautiful adventures are not those we go far to seek, but those we find nearby.

Three Racketeers Guilty Of Murder

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—With the conviction of John Rooney, labor union executive, and two confederates on a charge of murder as result of an alleged racketeering slaying already achieved, the State's Attorney's office turned to fresh cases today in its war to drive crime from Chicago.

Rooney, secretary-treasurer of the Circular Distributors Union, Henry Berry, an official of the union, and Rooney's reputed sweetheart, Rosalie Rizzo, were convicted of the slaying of Stanley Gross in quick order by a jury Saturday. The men were sentenced to life imprisonment and the woman to 20 years.

Arguments for a new trial were set for next Saturday. Meanwhile, First Assistant State's Attorney Grover Niemeyer hailed the convictions as "a stimulus to greater efforts on the part of all of us" and said every one of the 10 criminal courts would be manned with able prosecutors today.

WHAT! NO BEER?

Carbondale, Ill., Aug. 7.—(AP)—City officials, beer dealers and their customers are pondering what to do with the local dry laws which under a recent ruling by Attorney General Kerner would prevent the selling of beer in Carbondale. Numerous other southern Illinois towns are reported to be in a similar quandary.

Relief Expenses In Chicago Lower

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A claim that Chicago showed the second greatest decrease in relief expenditures from April to May of the 13 largest cities of the nation, was made today by Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

He based his conclusions on figures supplied by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor showing that the Los Angeles area reduced expenses for the month 26.2 per cent and that Chicago was second with a cut of 13.7 per cent.

For the LOVE of EVE

by Lucy Walling
© 1933 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty copy writer in the advertising office of Bixby's department store, secretly marries DICK RADELL, a construction engineer. The marriage takes place hurriedly during a noon lunch hour. Dick wants Eve to give up working but she refuses. Eve is ambitious and knows she is being considered for the job of assistant to EARLY RADELL, advertising manager at Bixby's.

Later that same day Eve learns that she is to receive the promotion. The first of her new duties is to make a trip to New York to meet FREDERICK CARTER, the dress buyer. It is necessary for Eve to leave Lake City that night.

She rushes home to pack a traveling bag. At five o'clock Dick meets her and they drive to an attractive restaurant for dinner. Eve faces the difficult task of telling him that she must leave on an eight o'clock train.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

DICK looked puzzled. "Leave me?" he repeated. "I don't understand. What in the world are you trying to tell me, sweetheart?"

"Well—," Eve hesitated. "You know I told you that Alice Marshall is leaving Bixby's to open an office of her own and that I might have a chance to take her place? And you know how hard I've worked for a promotion—"

"Yes. Well?" Dick's voice didn't seem quite natural. It sounded a trifle grim. His gray eyes were sober, waiting.

"Well, Alice is going very soon. Sooner than Mr. Barnes expected. He called me into his office early this morning and told me I had a chance for the position. He said he and Mr. Bixby would decide about it this afternoon. And," Eve nervously took a sip of hot coffee, "he said this morning that if I decided I could have the job I was to leave for New York tonight. I was afraid to tell them this is our wedding day. I never would have got the promotion then."

Dick, white-faced, waited. She looked at him pleadingly but he did not help her. She must hurry on. Time pressed.

"Well, darling, I hoped against hope. I wanted the position and I wanted you. And as long as we had planned to be married this noon I couldn't bear to spoil our wedding. And I didn't know for sure until the middle of the afternoon that the job is mine and that I'm to leave tonight for New York."

Through misty tears Eve saw Dick's firm, generous mouth, now a thin, straight streak across his white face. He asked, "For—how long?"

And she answered, "A week—nearly. I'll be home Sunday morning."

Dick raised the ruby goblet to his lips. The harpist changed her melody to Victor Herbert's "Gypsy Sweetheart." Ever afterward at the sound of that air Eve was to relive that scene.

Dick was waiting for her to go on.

Eve said, "Can't you come along with me, darling?"

"Then you have decided to go?" Dick wasn't making it easy for her.

"I must, Dick! It's my big opportunity." This a trifle defiantly.

Then, regretting her manner a bit, she added, "If you'd come along, Dick, we could announce our marriage immediately. Come on, darling! We'll spend our honeymoon in New York. All I have to do there is look about—visit the smart shops and restaurants and the theaters. It will be fun!"

Eve kissed Dick goodby and told him she would miss him.

Then, regretting her manner a bit, she added, "If you'd come along, Dick, we could announce our marriage immediately. Come on, darling! We'll spend our honeymoon in New York. All I have to do there is look about—visit the smart shops and restaurants and the theaters. It will be fun!"

Dick, white-faced, waited. She looked at him pleadingly but he did not help her. She must hurry on. Time pressed.

"Well, darling, I hoped against hope. I wanted the position and I wanted you. And as long as we had planned to be married this noon I couldn't bear to spoil our wedding. And I didn't know for sure until the middle of the afternoon that the job is mine and that I'm to leave tonight for New York."

W. F. PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Last week I mentioned that the hatchery people were in to see me. Since then I have been thinking quite a lot about this baby chick business. And I have decided that if I were a Mussolini I would prohibit the sale of any more incubators for at least five years.

Then I would put all the hatcheries under license. And when anyone came to buy chicks he would have to show that he had the proper equipment to take care of the number he wanted, and that his ground and houses were free from infection.

We would have fewer chickens, of course. But we would have better ones.

Hot House Chickens
are grown to 1½ and 3 pounds, and never get outside of wire coop. "Hot house chickens," I call them. That's another thing I wish we could get rid of.

It is my opinion that birds grown under those conditions are just like tomatoes or strawberries grown in a hot house. (You're lucky to be living out in the country, where you don't have to eat them!) They are big and red and they look wonderful, but they don't have any flavor.

One of the principal poultry dealers in London, with whom I am acquainted, writes me that this practice of raising chickens entirely indoors is growing in England, too. He calls such birds "anemics" and has the same objection to them that I do: He thinks they lack flavor.

If we want people to eat more chicken, we have to put on the consumer's table chickens that TASTE good, so that when they eat one it will create a desire for more.

That is the kind of chickens you are raising—chickens raised in a natural way on natural food. I hope you are doing a good job of it!

Sincerely yours,

W. F. Priebe

Farming Factors

SUMMER SHADE NECESSARY

By Prof. A. G. Phillips

Hot weather is growing weather, but the direct hot sunshine is not relished by poultry. Normally chickens do not eat very much in the heat of the day and seek shelter from the sun trying to find a place that is cool as well as shady.

Shade is not the only thing needed; consequently, protection from the sun should be of the type that is open on all sides, allowing circulation of air. If trees and shrubbery are not available, shelters on temporary frames, made of old feed bags, will be ideal. Birds will seek such cover and even at high temperatures will be cool and comfortable; growth and egg production will then be normal.

Soil sanitation is hooked up with shelter as a management problem. The continued congregation of birds on one spot causes a concentration of droppings and increases chances for worm infestation and the development of intestinal infections. This means that temporary shelters should be portable and moved often; also, the ground under permanent shelters, such as trees and houses, should be plowed up frequently. Unless the ground used by poultry is so treated, the valuable features of free range are offset by increased disease problems.

Pastures can be considered in this whole problem and we can rank blue grass as first choice, alfalfa and clover as second, and most anything else as undesirable. While pastures are normally devoid of trees, the artificial shade or shelter mentioned above will give the birds all the protection they need. Growing pullets should never be on bare ground or land that has not had a chance to become fertilized by direct sunshine.

We have often approved the use of shady woods for range because of its shelter. This feature is desirable, but it is difficult to keep the ground sanitary. We must accept sunlight as the most efficient destroyer of worm eggs; hence artificial shelter on good pasture is the most acceptable plan for handling poultry in hot weather.

NEXT WEEK TO BE "FARMERS" WEEK AT EXPO.

Special Features In Agriculture Will Be On Program

Unusually low rates to allow farmers to visit A Century of Progress in Chicago will be featured by the Chicago & North Western Railway for "Farmers' Week" which will be held at the 1933 Fair August 13-19. R. Thomson, passenger traffic manager of the road, announced.

Outstanding features starting with Sunday and lasting through Saturday are being planned to give a full measure of entertainment not only to the men of the farm but also to the women and children. Special guide service at the World's Fair grounds will be available so that farmers may be conducted in groups to the points of special interest.

"Farm Youth Day's" with particular attention given to 4-H Clubs, the farmers of tomorrow, will be inaugural day program on Sunday, August 13. Monday will be "Farm Progress Day" and will feature an outstanding speaker from Washington. Tuesday will be "Farm Women's Day" with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as a possible speaker, while Wednesday will be "Farm Credits Day" with a speaker on hand who is in close touch with the agricultural credits plan.

Farm Bureau and other farm organizations will be featured on Thursday — "Farm Organization Day."

Secretary of Agriculture, Henry A. Wallace, has accepted an invitation to speak on Friday, August 18. He has chosen as his subject "Corn and Hogs"—one of the most strategic points in the recently passed governmental regulations of agriculture.

"Barn Dance Day" will also be one of the features on Friday, while Saturday will be "Farm Sports Day."

In addition to the special farm events during this week, August 13-19 will also be "Chicago Festival

Week" and many outstanding features of entertainment are being planned for that week, among which are the Chicago Junior Ass'n. of Commerce's special program for "Fort Dearborn Day" on August 13 and the Music Festival on the 19th. The Music Festival will follow on Saturday night the Farm Sports Festival, which will be held on Saturday afternoon.

"World's Fair officials have assured us," Mr. Thomson stated, "that 'Farmers' Week' will be one of the fullest weeks of the entire Fair from the standpoint of good entertainment and well organized educational features."

Prize For Ear of Corn
The Illinois farmer who brings the biggest ear of corn to the Fair on Illinois Day, Friday, August 11, will be given a specially escorted trip through the Fair grounds and will receive a copy of the official World's Fair medal.

The corn contest will be staged at 11:30 A. M. in the Illinois agricultural exhibit in the Agricultural Building, Lieutenant Governor Thomas F. Donovan, chairman of the celebration, announced today.

At this time, at the same place, W. H. McLaughlin, director of the state department of agriculture will personally meet farmers for an informal get-together.

Special arrangements are being made to care for the throngs who will witness the three Illinois Day parades. There will be a military parade from the Court of Honor to escort Governor Horner and guests to the Hall of States for exercises of the day, following which there will be the most elaborate children's day procession yet staged at the Fair.

The crowning event of the day will be the review of nearly 10,000 troops of the Illinois National Guard by Governor Horner and distinguished guests. This will take place in the afternoon, the reviewing stand being erected in front of the Illinois Host Building.

As the finale to a spectacular fireworks display, a huge sky picture of Abraham Lincoln, Illinois' most famous son, will be painted in blazing colors.

WHEAT OVERPRODUCTION

Many people are doubting the word of the government when they say we have a large carryover of wheat and this is depressing the prices. A great many farmers gave their opinion by this year's crop. The 1933 wheat crop which is being harvested at this time is the smallest crop in 40 years. There is an estimated yield of 500,000,000 bushels, while the average yearly production over a long period of time is 845,000,000, or a short crop of 345,000,000 bushels, less than the average. The carryover in the United States, since July 1, 1933 was 350,000,000 bushels of wheat. With a small crop, the carryover for July 1, 1934 will be 200,000,000 bushels. But with the normal year's production it will increase up to 325,000,000.

600 bushels carryover by July 1, 1935, and approximately 450,000,000 bushels by July 1, 1936. With the average yield of 845,000,000 bushels and a total domestic requirement for food, seed, and a liberal allowance for seed to be used, only 620,000 bushels, with only a small export of 40,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels, the surplus is bound to become top heavy and cash. A carryover of 300,000,000 million bushels would be more than twice as large as the normal carryover.

Exports of Little Help

Naturally the question will be asked "What of exports, we produced wheat before the war and sold it abroad why not now? This is a good question and can be answered in the light of the present situation. In the period since the war, European nations have been heavy borrowers from America up to 1929, and increased our creditors status to the amount of an additional $7,000,000,000. These loans have been both by private and governmental means. This has changed the status of the United States, from a debtor nation owing European countries about $3,000,000,000 before the war, to a creditor nation and the European countries owe us to the extent of about $14,000,000,000. There is no possibility that the United States will again loan money abroad in large volume, either in public or private amounts.

Since 1929 when the United States refused to extend credit any further, the amount of wheat sold has been negligible. During the borrowing period the foreign countries purchased our wheat, but now that they are more interested in shipping goods to this country to pay their loans and interest than to buy wheat.

The second factor which is affecting our exports is that after the World War the European countries went on a self sustaining basis. That is why they made an effort to support their own country without importing any food products. The imports to Germany, France, Italy declined from 208,000,000 bushels in 1922 to 136,000,000 bushels in 1931 to 1932, and to about 40,000,000 bushels from 1932 to 1933.

These same countries, set wheat import allowances, and only small amounts of wheat could be imported until all the domestic wheat was used up. Yet during this same period wheat production per year was 1,045,000,000 in 1932 to 1,435,000,000 in 1931. The British Isles have been a large importing nation, yet due to their trade agreement with the colonies of the United Kingdom colony, wheat is given preference over all other. During this same period there has been a rapid expansion of wheat in the Argentine, Australia and Canada. Russian wheat acreage has been materially larger than in pre-war days, and they are now an important factor on the market. Wheat can be produced in all these countries much cheaper than it can in the United States, and the American farmers except those on the seaboard have but little chance of competing with the foreign countries. In the face of the present conditions of the world market, the United States must go on a domestic basis, and wheat production must be curtailed. The allotment plan offered by the government is so designed to help the farmer make the necessary adjustment, without material loss to himself.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP).—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes, in bushels: wheat increased 3,158,000; corn increased 488,000; oats increased 2,444,000; rye increased 177,000; barley increased 719,000.
